Preface to the Second Edition

This second edition of A Dictionary of Late Egyptian will be complete in two volumes of about the same size. The present volume includes all the entries of volumes I and II of the original set (3 through h), while the new second volume will include the entries of volumes III, IV, and V (s through q and the index of English words). The increased cost of so-called “perfect” paper bindings, and their inherent weaknesses, especially for frequently used reference works, made our decision to use fewer and thicker hard bound volumes very clear. The slightly reduced size of the print and more compact entries have allowed us to reduce the total number of pages slightly even though there are a number of new entries and many new references and meanings.

In the twenty years that have elapsed since the first appearance of volume I, Barbara S. Lesko has continued to be the one contributor who has spent most time in seeking out any new word studies in books, monographs, journals, and Festschriften, and she has also coordinated the efforts of others including Stephen E. Thompson and Mariam Ayad in collecting data. The work of imputing the files with glyphs now from the Glyph program fell largely to Lee Payne and Jonathan Keizer, who have each spent countless hours in the effort. We, unfortunately, suffered one time consuming setback when a large file and its backup were destroyed by a “Friday 13th” virus that struck while the backup drive was attached. We now keep two backups at separate locations. Again, we are most grateful to our friends at Modern Printing of Fall River, Massachusetts for seeing another project through to completion.

Again we trust that our references, their abbreviations, and our list of these are all easy enough to use even for beginners, but, if you have difficulties, you can also contact me by e-mail for help (Leonard_Lesko@Brown.edu). In principal, I originally opted to use document, columns, and lines (instead of pages and lines) for references taken from collections such as LRL, LEM, LES, and RAD. This was not the case with KRI references, since these were used sparingly, generally because they included mostly monumental Middle Egyptian texts, which fell outside of Černý’s proper Late Egyptian corpus. Obviously, more recent KRI’s include many Late Egyptian documents on papyri and these are referred to as seemed best in each case.

Of particular note in the additions found in this second edition are Hoch’s analysis of loan words, Wente’s numerous new meanings provided in his translations of letters, the lengthy notes of Grandet for P. Harris I, and Jansen-Winkel for the Dynasty 22 and 23 biographies. These and many other publications clearly show how much interest there has been in Ramesside and Third Intermediate Period texts in recent years.

Preface to Volume II

This volume of A Dictionary of Late Egyptian includes all the entries of both volumes III and IV of the original five volume set, and in addition has an updated index of the English meanings found in the two new second edition volumes. Of course, there are a few entirely new entries, many more references, and twenty-five pages of new meanings that we encountered in more recent publications and referenced here.

In addition to the many, many hours that Barbara S. Lesko spent searching for additional references, she also continued to coordinate the efforts of several student assistants--for this volume notably Mariam Ayad, Jessica Levai, Marie Passanante, and Emily O'Dell. Jonathan Keiser meanwhile took over much of the production end of the work, seeing to it that the best glyph was used in each case, that there was greater consistency in formatting and clarity in abbreviations. While he had the earlier work of Stephen E. Thompson and Lee Payne as a solid basis on which to build, he, like Barbara, continued to search and question right down to the last minute. I indeed owe a great debt of gratitude to all those who have contributed to the success of this project.

It is always disappointing to encounter typographical errors, so even more time and effort went into proofreading this volume. Even so some variant British and American spellings turned up from different sources, and some of these were allowed to stand to reflect the fact that they came from different authors. I felt that we did not have to insist on total conformity.

Again, it has been a pleasure to work with our friends, Ray and Don Schenck at Fall River Modern Printing, but in spite of the fact that they have by now become totally engrossed by Egyptology, I am sure that they are as glad as I am to see this project successfully completed.
